Craig's Column

I didn't go fishing on my vacation like Bob, so I'm buying my fish at Scott's Fish Market, while I'm wishing for a Rainy Lake Comfort Blend coffee.

Thanks for your business

Mug of the Month

Myra

Bridging Bloomington

Bridging—Serving Families in Transition is a non-profit organization serving individuals and families moving out of homelessness and poverty. They “bridge the gap” between those who have a need and those who have the resources to provide for that need. The organization provides a one-time gift of furniture and household goods so clients can set up a home for their families. In 2011, Bridging will serve more than 5,000 households and give families a once-in-a-lifetime shopping experience in its warehouses that have been stocked through monetary and furniture donations. The organization works with 30 social service agencies to bring it all together and Myra helps coordinate the operation in the front office. She handles human resources, accounts receivables and loads of paperwork, and enjoys helping in such a constructive way. She loves the outdoors and helps Girl Scouts learn about it, too. She surmises she is the only Girl Scout leader who rides a Harley. In her service-oriented business, she appreciates the extra care and service Al's Coffee and Zoom Beverage provide.

Our coffee roaster combines the best varietal coffee beans to produce five blends with varying characteristics and flavor profiles—Cottage, Country, Comfort, Crossroads, and Calm (our decad). The sense of contentment and happiness one feels sipping that first morning coffee has now been turned into a research study with positive findings. Researchers at the Harvard Medical School learned that women who drink coffee each day are less at risk of depression. In the study of 51,000 women, those women who drank two or more cups of coffee reported 20 percent fewer cases of depression. Put a smile on your face—drink another cup of Rainy Lake Blend.
